OPNES MANCHURIAN CITIES.

China Invites International Trade Before Agreeing with Japan.

PEKIN, Jan. 16. China has opened Hun-Chun and Linchiang in Chientao, Manchuria, to international trade, notwithstanding the fact that an agreement has not yet been reached with Japan regarding the matter of the tariffs to be collected on the Corean-Manchurian border. The question of tariffs will come up for settlement at an early date.

MAGDALEN ISLANDS CUT OFF.

Cable Connection with Mainland Severed for the Winter.

NORTH SYDNEY, N. S., Jan. 16. As a result of the breaking of the cable that connects the Magdalen Islands with the mainland of Bay St. Lawrence, the islands are completely cut off from all communication either by cable or otherwise from the rest of the world for the remainder of the winter or until the opening of navigation in the spring.

FOR ERECTION OF MONUMENT.

Capron Asks in Response to Signal Corps Petition Poison Pills Presented at Congress.

In response to a petition of the United States Signal Corps Association of which Congressman Capron is a member, he has presented the following bill authorizing the Secretary of War to erect such a monument:

"Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled: That the Secretary of War be and he is hereby authorized and directed to cause to be erected a monument on Little Round Top, on the field of Gettysburg, Pennsylvania, to commemorate the valorous deeds and efficient services of the United States Signal Corps, and for that purpose the sum of $7,500 is hereby appropriated out of the moneys in the Treasury not otherwise appropriated."

Owing to Congressman Capron's inability to go to Washington at present his colleague, Congressman Sisson, obtained leave from the House to open session, on the ground of unavoidable absence to present to Mr. Capron's name sundry bills and petitions, as follows: Increase of pension—Thomas L. Jenckison, Edgewood Company G, Second Rhode Island infantry, $12 to $24; Mary H. Coddington, widow of McKee Coddin, Providence Company E, Fourth Rhode Island infantry, $12 to $24; James F. Watson, First Rhode Island Company A, Fourth Rhode Island infantry, $24 to $30; Jeremy Valentine, Green Hill, Company A, Third Rhode Island heavy artillery, $12 to $24; George P. Keeney, Arkwright Company I, First Rhode Island cavalry, $20 to $30; Peter Welch Pawtucket, Company C, Two Hundred United States infantry, $12 to $24; William Wiley, Foster Center, Company K, Fourth Rhode Island infantry, $12 to $30; Samuel H. Greene, Soldiers' Home, Gardiner, Maine, Company G, First Rhode Island infantry, $12 to $30; James M. Cook, Lafayette, Company F, Third Rhode Island heavy artillery, $12 to $30; Oscar Arnold, Shannock, Company A, Fifty-third Massachusetts heavy artillery, $12 to $30; also, the petition of Miss Ruth Hammond of Wickford in favor of a bill to grant 10 acres of land to each Yuma Indian, and that of the Patten Makers' Association of Providence in favor of the eight-hour bill.

THE INTERNATIONAL POLO.

Englishmen Will Be Ready to Compete for Cup Three Weeks After Date Set by American Party.

A London cable to the New York Herald says: It is learned that the Polo Association of America has replied to Huntingdon's communication to the effect that a former challenge would be sent in America after the decision of the chairman of the tournament, June 25 next, to compete for the international polo cup in September, 1910, if a suitable team of players and ponies could be brought together for that purpose. On behalf of the American association Mr. W. A. Hazard has notified the Hurlingham authorities that the challenge will be accepted provided it is issued not after the June 1 next, the match to be played either in August or September. Polo as may be matched against us.

It will be noticed that, while the Hurlingham authorities have fixed June 25 as the date on which they will challenge, the Americans are evidently of the opinion that three weeks earlier will be quite late enough. If the Hurlingham authorities mean that Hurlingham and not Ranelagh will be the champion ground for the match, things in polo circles promise to be interesting. It looks as if that at present Hurlingham are the club which will accept.

UNITED CONGREGATIONAL ANNUAL MEETING.

Rev. and Mrs. Charles A. Hall left Sunday evening for New York, from which port they will sail for West Indies, N. J. Mr. Hall was formerly pastor of the Congregational church. The annual meeting of the Congregational Church was held in the chapel on Thursday evening, January 13, 1910. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: Deacons, Mr. Hall, Mr. Hall, Mr. Hall

THE GIFT BOND REVELATION.

Interest Centres in Responsibility for the Trick Law.

Biennial Elections Amendment and Other Important Matters Early in the Session.

[Providence correspondence of the News.]

PROVIDENCE, Jan. 15.—It has been an interesting week in the General Assembly and an unusual number of matters of importance for so early in the session have occupied the attention of the legislators. These have been of a very varying nature, but perhaps the most interesting of all has been the revelation of the gift of defaulted bonds of the state of North Carolina, of the face value of half a million of dollars, to this state and the action which has been taken in consequence of the uncovering of the circumstances surrounding the matter. It appears that on one of the late days of the session last May an act was railroaded through the Assembly of somewhat obscure origin, the full import of which no one appears to have understood or is now willing to acknowledge such understanding, which made it possible for this state to receive these gilt-edged bonds and forced it into the position of figuring as a claimant against another state of the Union to collect upon these bonds. During the summer the fact was reported to Governor Pothier that this act had been made and that the state would be forced to press the claim for the payment of the bonds. The governor, however, kept this knowledge to himself and only during the past week made it public.

There have been few revelations of transactions of a questionable character in this state which have created so much interest at the State House and with the public generally as this bond matter and there is a great desire to probe and exhibit and learn all the details of the deal which is responsible for the mix-up which has been played upon the state and has forced it into such an unenviable position with reference to other commonwealth. The press generally appears to be eager to have the transactions and to settle the matter by a repeal of the act which was surreptitiously passed, and have the bonds returned whence they have ventured to the state of North Carolina. Indeed, a resolution to that effect was passed in the house, and is now up in the senate by Senator Sherman of Newport on the plea of immediate examination and investigation of the subject before summary action could be taken. The measure and others affecting the matter have been referred to the senate judiciary committee and a public hearing on the subject will be held Tuesday. It is hoped that further revelations will be made and possibly the names of those who were most closely interested in the affair may be revealed. Meanwhile interest in the enactment and will be until final action is taken.

The constitutional amendment providing for biennial elections has made its appearance in the house and has been ready to apply to senators and representatives as well as general officers. It does not include members of the General Assembly, as many who have the best interests of the state at heart would prefer. There is little doubt that this measure will be passed by this legislature and submitted to the people at the election of next year for endorsement, as the second step in the process required for the adoption of an amendment to the constitution of the state.

Dr. Ward, the state veterinarian, has made a startling statement in his report to the legislature regarding the spread of tuberculosis among cattle and the need of the adoption of measures in order to stop the ravages of this disease among the herds of the state. This is a point which has been under controversy among the agriculturists for some time and there will be the same fight as of old over the matter, if an attempt is made to carry out Dr. Ward's idea of passing an act requiring the use of tests to determine tuberculosis in cattle. The matter is an important one and it is expected that the issue will be taken up in behalf of the state by some member of the legislature by the introduction of an act to make necessary the use of the tuberculin test.

It was a deserved tribute which was paid to the late Secretary of State Bennett by the passage of a resolution of appreciation to Mrs. Bennett for the balance of the salary of the late official from the time of his death to the end of last year. It was a unanimous vote, as was expected in view of the universal popularity of the late official.

The governor followed his few appointments of the first week of the session by a big batch this week. Twenty-two were almost all re-appointments. A number of these were of men from Newport county, but there were no close nominees. The comment which created the most was that of a Woonsocket man to succeed Philippe Chevalier, that city on the State board of Charities, because of the rumor that this change was made to settle an old trouble between the governor and the former member of the board of election.

Senate committees were appointed this week, but those of the house are over until Tuesday. There is much interest in the appointments in the senate, and there is considerable concerning those of the house, since the Democrats received little attention in last year's appointments. Representation on the judiciary committees, for instance, was given only to the majority members of the finance committee. The latter, however, received little attention without complaint, apparently being glad to get as much as they had dared to hope for or expected. Whether the Democrats will appear as well when they will receive their assignments to be seen.

Of interest, too, as to the senate committees is the fact that the latter obtained most attention in the case of the son of Senator Sherman of Newport as clerk of the committee on special legislation, to be named Edward W. Higbee, a tax collector of Newport. The announcement of the committees in the house there will be no lack of interest to learn who will receive the appointments in that branch.

Organized labor as has been previously in the house which is in accord with the views of the factory inspector of the state, particularly for an reduction of applicants for permission to work in mercantile establishments. There is sure to be a fight when it comes from the side of the manufacturers are with the labor interests are for its adoption.

Speculation for the appointment of a successor to Senator Aldrich is rife in the state. It is anticipated that it will be announced next week. It is understood that a commission of nine will be named, but there is no information on the part of the governor as to the appointments, primarily to increase the representation of the Democratic party.

The senate during the week provides for the increase of the salary of the governor from $3,000 and $4,000 and that of the executive secretary from $1,200 to $1,800. This, it is understood, is to be followed by one adding to the salary of the lieutenant governor. These are Republican measures and there is no reason to doubt that they will be adopted without much opposition.

The matter of the endorsement of the proposed federal income tax is now before the senate, the governor having transmitted to that body his official notification of the passage by Congress of the resolution, which must receive the sanction of a fixed number of states in order to become a law. The Republicans are not talking much about the matter, but it is regarded both at the State House and in Washington as a foregone conclusion that the action of this state will not be favorable, owing to the influence of Senator Aldrich against the measure.

The senate has passed a resolution asking Congress to co-operate with this state in the widening of Providence harbor, but the house has held up the measure temporarily, until the full effect of the resolution has been understood. This is rather a new exhibition of caution, which is ascribed to the revelations concerning the North Carolina bonds, but it is regarded by those concerned for the passage of only the best legislation as a good thing, which it would be well to have become a regular custom.

A bill to provide for the inspection of bakeries and confectionery manufactories is again to be presented to the legislature at this session, having been passed by one branch last year, but failing in the other. It will call for the appointment of bakery inspectors and will be urged, as last year, by those who are actively interested in sanitary advancement.

Senator McKenna, a Democrat, desires to have an act passed forbidding the issue of free passes to legislators by transportation companies, and has introduced such a bill, but how much consideration it is likely to receive at the hands of the legislature will be readily appreciated by those who know how extensive is the circulation of these bits of pasteboard. There will not be much more prospect of the passage of another bill, which the same senator presented at the same time, concerning the election of United States Senators by direct vote of the people. Both have been sent to committees and will doubtless slumber there, for a while at least.

General Treasurer Read has presented his annual estimates of receipts and expenditures for the coming year, and according to his figure the state will receive more money but will be obliged to pay out more. If all outstanding loans were cancelled there would be a deficit of some $50,000, but by the postponement of the payment of some of these which are not pressing there may be an apparent balance of about $10,000. This is a better showing than has been made in some recent years and would be quite satisfactory if the Assembly would keep within bounds and not appropriate more money than is in sight in its effort to use all that is available.

So the second week of the session has ended. The third will be awaited with deep interest, because of the nature of a number of matters which are pending.

MUST CLEAN THEIR SIDEWALKS.

CURE YOUR KIDNEYS.

Do Not Endanger Life When a Newport Citizen Shows You the Cure.

Why will people continue to suffer the agonies of kidney complaint, backache, urinary disorders, lameness, headaches, languor, why allow themselves to become chronic invalids, when a certain cure is offered them?

Doan's Kidney Pills is the remedy to use, because it gives to the kidneys the help they need to perform their work.

If you have any, even one, of the symptoms of kidney diseases, cure yourself now, before diabetes, dropsy or Bright's disease sets in. Read this Newport testimony:

John L. Cookingham, 20 Poplar Street, Newport, R. I., says: "I was greatly benefited by Doan's Kidney Pills procured from Wright & Hay's Drug Store and can therefore recommend them. I suffered almost constantly for two years from kidney complaint and rheumatism. There were such terrible pains in my back at times that I could scarcely turn over in bed and many nights I could not sleep at all. Rheumatism made its appearance in my right limb and gradually extended into my arms and shoulders. Doan's Kidney Pills went directly to the seat of my trouble and brought me entire relief."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

THE SPIRIT OF GOOD CHEER.

[J. T. Gallagher.]

I was musing on the glory
Of the golden sunset ray
That still lingered on the summit
Of the church across the way;
But my thoughts were not of sunshine—
They were flying to the shade
Of a silent, snow-clad churchyard
Where my dearest one is laid.

Evening fled and slow and solemn
Night came down her star-gemmed stair,
Flooding all the Public Garden
With the billows of her hair;
Folding in her noble mantle
Sky reflecting Fountain the skies
Save a fire of moonlike beauty
And two beaming, starlike eyes.

Then I heard the silver cadence
Of a voice like mountain rill,
When the summer day is waking
And the birds their greeting trill;
And a maiden stood before me
Seeming to my starlit eyes
Like the vision of an angel
In the crescent of sunrise.

"Who art thou?" I said upstarting,
"What dost bring my musing so."
Then she came a little nearer
And her cheeks were all aglow.
"We were lovers once," she answered;
"Now 'tis all is said and dear.
Let me be again your sweetheart,
I'm the spirit of good cheer."

SUBSCRIBERS WHO DO NOT RECEIVE THEIR PAPERS REGULARLY AND IN GOOD CONDITION SHOULD MAKE COMPLAINT AT THE OFFICE.

FEDERAL CORPORATIONS.

The draft of the administration bill for federal corporations to do an interstate business has been published, and a reader will meet with small success in his effort to gather from it just what its purpose is, unless it be to protect the great combinations called trusts or monopolies from state action. In his message to Congress the President intimated that corporations doing an interstate business would voluntarily seek federal incorporation in order to escape state action, and that is quite possible, but it is difficult to see why they should escape state action. There has been no general persecution of trusts by the states, and it is far from clear why the national government should offer protection to corporations which wish to escape subjection to state laws.

The bill confers a considerable discretion upon the commissioner of corporations in regard to the safeguarding of the organizations but this may be a minor objection. The corporations when formed may do all the things which trusts have been accused of doing. They may become monopolies by buying the control of any number of other corporations engaged in a similar line of business and chartered by the states. The requirements imposed upon the corporations are merely those of the acts of Congress, to which of course all corporations are now subject; certain conditions in regard to capitalization which would probably prevent stock watering, and annual and other reports designed to show the condition of the corporation.

The Standard Oil Company, or the American Sugar Refining Company, or the United States Steel Corporation might organize under this law but for the element of fictitious capitalization, which does not exist in the case of the first and is denied by the other two, and by the courts generally. They would make annual reports of their condition, but would not be required to tell more than the Steel Corporation now tells voluntarily, and it is doubtful if they would need to disclose more than corporations generally do in their reports to their shareholders and to reports called for by state law. With a federal charter the Standard Oil could buy up all the oil concerns in Kansas, Missouri and Texas and those states would be barred from any interference with them.

This does not seem to be exactly the legislation called for at present by public sentiment and the states have not interfered with corporations sufficiently to explain why the general government should extend its jurisdiction over the trusts.

REID AND SACKVILLE WEST.

Ambassador Reid's indiscretion in answering a letter from a candidate for Parliament regarding conditions in America which have been a subject of debate in the British electoral campaign is not a serious one, but it does not differ greatly from the indiscretion of Lord Sackville West while ambassador in Washington in replying to a question regarding the issues in the Presidential campaign of 1888. For that indiscretion our government asked for his recall and the British government never gave him another appointment.

Evidently Englishmen are a little less sensitive than we are, for though there has been some criticism of Mr. Reid's letter there has been, so far as the public knows, no official complaint and not much private objection. In 1888 the Republicans were making the wonder of the idea that a lower tariff in this country would be in English interests and the Democrats were proportionally sensitive to anything which should give color to the campaign cry of the Republicans. The letter to Lord Sackville West was fraudulent, but it purported to come from a naturalized Englishman who did not know how to vote in the Presidential election and sought advice from the British ambassador. Lord Sackville West was guarded in his reply but there was just enough indication in it of preference for Mr. Cleveland to delight the Republicans and annoy the Democrats. Hence, although the letter was in itself innocent and guarded, a Democratic administration felt it expedient to assume great indignation and dismiss His Lordship. If Englishmen were equally sensitive there would be nearly or quite as much reason for forcing Mr. Reid to return to the United States.

INDETERMINATE CRIMINAL SENTENCES.

With the experience of other states to guide in the consideration of the matter, it would not seem as though much argument was necessary to convince the legislature or the public that a change in the law in this state providing for indeterminate sentences of criminals would be a wise move and ought to be made in the interests of justice and of the criminals. The plan has worked well wherever it has been tried, and indeed its success has become so well established in the minds of those who have to do with the punishment of offenders against the laws and the care of criminals that there can be little possible opposition on well founded grounds to the introduction and passage of such a law. The governor recommended some action of this sort in his annual message to the General Assembly, and it is understood that a measure to that effect will be presented to the legislature at an early date. That it should receive prompt and favorable attention is the conviction of those who have knowledge of the merits of the case.

Under the present law in this state a criminal is given a fixed sentence, which is reduced mechanically by good behavior in confinement, but otherwise he has no way to benefit by any exhibition of repentance for what he has done, or disposition to do better if given an opportunity to reform. Under the provisions of an indeterminate sentence law the range of imprisonment would be wider and there would be greater opportunity for the exercise of clemency in case it was deserved by the conduct of the prisoner and his attitude toward reformation. Thus it lies in a measure with the prisoner himself whether his confinement shall be long or short. If he shows a spirit of repentance for his crime and a determination to do better when released he may be given a new chance, while if he shows no such disposition his sentence can be extended from the minimum to the maximum period.

This law also operates in cases which occur quite often where new developments arise after sentence has been imposed and imprisonment has begun, which affect the conditions in such a way that the sentence might have been different. If the truth had been known in such instances, if the new information warrants such action, it is possible under the indeterminate sentence law to shorten the term to the maximum. Thus justice can be better served than if the prisoner is obliged to serve out his full time, though circumstances have arisen which show conclusively that he did not deserve as heavy a sentence as was imposed. Of course it works the other way as well, and if it is found that a prisoner deserved all he was given he can be made to serve out the maximum limit of his sentence, and thus again justice is done to the fullest extent.

Allied with this plan of indeterminate sentences there is in force in some states a parole system, in accordance with which the governor has the power to parole prisoners who may seem to merit such consideration permitting them to go free while still being subject to the law and liable to re-imprisonment in case they violate the terms of the parole. This plan is not as general and possesses some features which make it not quite so desirable, inasmuch as it involves the practice of having criminals at large while still nominally under sentence, but it may be worthy of consideration in connection with the other while the matter is receiving attention at the hands of the legislature. The indeterminate sentence law ought to be passed whether the parole system is adopted or not, as it is time for this state to take its place with the others which have incorporated this feature in their body of legal enactments.

A candidate for Speaker Cannon's place has made his appearance in Representative Gerritt John Dickema of Michigan. He is no "insurgent" but a regular, who thinks Speaker Cannon "the fairest presiding officer he ever saw in the chair." It will do no harm for Mr. Dickema to be a candidate, but would it not be as well for him to wait until the Congressional elections next autumn? Being an avowed friend of Speaker Cannon, his constituents may take it into their heads to send some other man to Congress to represent the district.

Collector Loeb of New York says Charles R. Heike, secretary of the American Sugar Refining Company, against whom an indictment has been secured in connection with the sugar frauds, is "the man higher up" whom he has had in mind as the official who would probably be indicted. Is that as high as we are to go?

Newport has recovered from the serious effects of the storm. There is still plenty of snow in the streets, but the accumulation is being lessened by the sun, and with railroad traffic resumed the city has resumed accustomed conditions.

Russia has beaten the United States as a wheat-growing country. Even though last year the total yield in this country was next to the largest in the history of American agriculture Russia, with 755,000,000 bushels, produced 25,000,000 bushels more than the United States.

If, as positively announced, Governor Hughes of New York will not, under any circumstances, be a candidate for re-election, that state will look long to find a man who will completely fill his place.

A good citizen is known by the condition of his sidewalk.

RHODE ISLAND'S LOBSTER LAW.

[New York Commercial.]

Rhode Island has a brand-new lobster law that went into effect last Saturday. Its chief object appears to be to restrict the catching of lobsters in Rhode Island to Rhode Islanders themselves which is all well enough, perhaps—but it doesn't promise to reduce the price of the delicate sea food for those who buy it of the catchers and eat it either home consumers or those outside of the state quite the contrary—it actually promises higher-priced Rhode Island lobsters.

The law forbids the catching of lobsters in state waters except by holders of licenses and licenses must be residents of at least one year's standing. Every Rhode Islander engaged in the lobster-catching industry must take out a license, no matter whether he is the proprietor of the business or only one of the employes. The license costs $5; and the commissioner, in addition to granting a certificate, gives to each person licensed a metal badge to be worn while he is at work catching lobsters. Of course, the cost of the licenses must come out of the catchers, who in turn take it out of the buyers.

Furthermore, the Rhode Island law sticks out in what seems eccentrics and economists and business folks regard as an "exploded" theory; that is, it prohibits the catching of very small and young lobsters—all under four and one half inches in length measured from the forward end of the bone to the inner body-shell. The older and larger lobsters, the mature ones that do all the spawning and thus perpetuate and increase their kind, may be caught and consumed ad libitum—the latter if only you "have the price." The little immature fellows, that are not yet in the spawning and reproducing "business," are carefully protected and "conserved" by lawalthough they face all sorts of death risks pending their arrival at the spawning age—and then they are legitimate prey for the catcher.

Rhode Island is not alone in this theory of lobster "conservation," and there are probably two sides to the question; experimentation ought to determine which plan of restriction is the more practicable. Meantime, the patrons of the broiled-live palaces must probably go deeper and deeper into their pockets each year for indulgence in the lobster luxury.

THE REPUBLIC OF SAN MARINO.

[London Post.]

The smallest and oldest republic in the world is at present passing through a difficult phase of its long history, a history which stretches back for more than fifteen centuries. A little more than three years ago, March 25, 1906, an historic date, commemorated by a tablet outside the cathedral and by the new name of one of the few trees in this tiny mountain capital, the arengo, or gathering of heads of families some 800 in number, met for the first time for four centuries in the great Church of San Marino and voted for the democratization of this most conservative of commonwealths. Previous to that date the council of 60, which managed the affairs of this miniature republic of 22 miles square, was composed of three classes—nobles, bourgeois and countryfolk in equal numbers—and the councilors, elected for life, formed a close corporation into which no outsider could enter save through the narrow door of co-option, when some member died and the survivors chose his successor.

Moreover, class distinctions were maintained in the election of the two presidents, or captani reggenti, of whom one was always a noble and the other a commoner. Such was the government of San Marino till three years ago—a government which worked in practice extremely well but had ceased to correspond with the democratic ideas of youthful San Marinese, who had studied abroad. Accordingly an agitation for reform was started; the aristocratic party prudently yielded. Only three out of 37 councilors voted against the convocation of the long-dormant arengo, and the latter decided that henceforth the council should be elected by direct manhood suffrage, and that one-third of its members should retire by rotation every three years. As illiterates were allowed to vote—they form about 50 per cent of the total population of 11,002—San Marino now possesses perhaps the most democratic constitution in the world.

Despite this drastic change, which is after all a return to the mediæval state of things when the arengo was a living body, the picturesque forms of an ancient Italian republic are still preserved at San Marino, and at San Marino alone. Twice a year, in the middle of September and in the middle of March, the two new capitani reggenti are elected and twice a year, October 1 and April 1, they are installed in office with all the picturesque ceremonial of bygone times.

THE HOUSE OF LORDS.

[Sydney Brooks, in the Atlantic.]

If every peer were a politician, willing to take part in public affairs and to convert his share in national legislation from a useful fiction into an obnoxious and real fact, the House of Lords would long ago have been found intolerable. But as it is, most peers happily are sportsmen, landowners, magistrates, bankers, men and so on, before they are hereditary legislators and Westminster figures, or at any rate devote only a fraction of their time and interest to the latter part. Their simple abstain from going there. A considerable number of them do not even take the trouble to present the writ that entitles them to sit and so. When 150 members are to be found in the House of Lords at the same time it is a proof that something of unusual importance is under discussion. There are enough to form a quorum and the ordinary routine business of the house hardly occupies an hour or so a day, or engages the attention of more than two scores of members.

MAY SAVE ON FUEL AND LIGHT.

Quartermaster General of the Army Believes They Can Be Economized at Military Posts.

The quartermaster general of the army is conducting an investigation which is destined to prove important in saving money now expended at military posts without the regulation or restrictions which General Aleshire believes, should attend expenditures for fuel and light. He is encouraged to believe that he can save $1,000,000 a year if it is possible to cut down the excessive consumption of fuel and the waste of light in the way of misapplied electric current. This is a startling proposition, and General Aleshire is not as yet prepared to say that there has been so much waste in fuel and light at military posts, but the reports he is receiving indicate that the excess of consumption has been considerable, and if the examples he has been able to locate are at all typical the saving in the consumption of coal would amount to nearly $660,000 a year.

At one station the local authorities estimated that 80,000 pounds of coal a month would be required for certain purposes, but it was shown that all that was needed would be 58,000 pounds, a reduction of about 28 per cent. At another military post, where the final estimate amounted to 400,000 pounds a month, it was found possible to reduce the quantity by 25 per cent. At one small post the reduction it was possible to affect in the quantity of coal equals 60 per cent. It is roughly estimated that the average excess amounts to 30 per cent, which could be saved to the government if the use of fuel were properly supervised.

As the cost of coal for heating, operating, lighting and pumping plants amounted to more than $2,000,000 in the last fiscal year, the impression prevails that on this item alone the quartermaster's department, by compelling greater care in inspection and supervision, will be able to save $654,000. In the case of electric current for lighting in three instances which have come to the attention of the quartermaster general the saving at one post amounted to 15 per cent, at another, 33 per cent, and at a third to nearly 40 per cent. If it is found practicable to reduce this expense by 30 per cent, which is estimated as an average excess prevailing at all military posts, the War Department will be able to save $111,000 on this item. The same story is told regarding other expenses, and it would not surprise the army quartermasters, if, when the system of supervision is thoroughly installed, the economical advantage will be expressed by not less than a round million dollars do any business helped the general good work.

The clearing weather gave the stores a good trade Saturday afternoon and evening.

Sunday there was little shoveling along the business streets, though there was some chance to take off ice easily, when the sun had done its work. At places the leaking from roofs was extensive. A big cornice of snow hung over the Builders and Merchants building on Washington square and threatened passers-by, and the police had the place barricaded. The Realty building also sent down a good deal of snow but that old standard snow-shoveler, Odd Fellows hall, did nothing. On Thames street it looked as though some work on the Red Men's building would make walking safer.

The city and railroad men and teams were busy all day, carting snow or breaking out roads, and there were certainly signs of activity on Spring street.

Many of the storekeepers came down Sunday afternoon and covered their walks with ashes or sawdust, to improve the footing when the freeze came, as it did after dark.

There were no signs of freeze during the day. Starting with a temperature at 21, the mercury rose to 37 at noon and 41 at 1, and the snow melted fast where the sun had a good chance. There was so much snow, however, that there was plenty below to take up the melting of the top.

So far as weather was concerned, Sunday could not well have been improved. It was certainly fine "overhead," and it was so much finer underfoot than it had been that no one was heard to grumble. Sleighing was in order and about everything in the sleigh line was out. Automobiles took a back seat. Those who had judgment put their machines in the garages and those who took theirs out probably know better now.

Contractor Dugan's teams had a vacation Saturday, as no one had time to put out orders. His teams were out Sunday, double-banked and took the snow they found. Today they are getting more. A way has been broken through to the dump, so they can go there and the men and horses are doing the best they can. The swill carts are also double-banked and doing their best to gather in material.

There are some who have remembered the birds on these days when their feeding places are covered by snow. Some have thrown out crumbs while others have secured considerable amusement in taking out food and throwing it to them a little at a time. A woman spent much time Sunday, feeding the birds at Washington Square with peanuts.

Steamer is carrying the Wickford mail to-day.

Today was not quite so warm as Sunday. The low morning mark was 18 and at 2 it was only up to 37, or 4 degrees below Sunday. The wind this morning shift d to the southwest and the balmy, spring-like feeling and the sense of a mild day during which the snow would melt away that spring had come began to disappear.

The ice cutters are under way again. The Artic company's men were about ready to resume running in this afternoon, having cleared the snow and made ready to resume business. The Independent company will also resume. The Newport company has never filled its houses at Avernet with its ice, and two more days will finish for them.

Now is the time for sleighs and snow-shoes, and small boys having fun while some of the grown folks do not appreciate.

REMOVING THE SNOW.

Highway Department Men Hard at Work and the City Will Have a Big Bill to Pay.

The highway department will have a big job to show that some snow fell and drifted after the deposit from this storm has been cleared away. Saturday afternoon the city men and teams were busy on Thames street and carted it to the postoffice. Sunday was a busy day, because there were many teams available for work. There was no use cutting and men were generally off from work, so that many more were available for snow shoveling than would have otherwise been the case, and every man who applied to the highway department was set at work. The street railroads also had men and teams which they could not have on a week day. This made quite a difference Sunday and a good deal of work was done.

The city men continued down Thames street to Young, and then went to various places where there were to be funerals, or about the cemeteries, relieving these points which especially needed it. Ten teams with shovelers went on Spring street in connection with the railroad men, and this work was finished today, the railroad men going up Levin. Today the city men are carting from upper Thames and will go on to roadway.

In the outskirts there were several gangs On took Bliss road, Vernon and Thurston avenues, and today is on another line; another started on Third and worke dto Van Zandt avenue, in which region there is much snow. Two gangs started on Ridge road, where only the car track was clear. One worked north to Kay street and one worked south in the most open section and around Berkeley avenue. Then there was an expedition around the Ocean drive, which was as far as Ridge road Sunday, through an eight-foot drift on Dr. Henry Whitney's lane.

The Providence road is carting from Fourth, Walnut and Third streets.

As the snow melts the city men will have to give attention to opening gutters, and finally to clearing the gutters. This will be a big job, as pretty much everywhere in the compact part of the city right over the gutter is the best snow.

LIGHTHOUSE SOCIETIES IN CONVENTION.

The annual convention of the St. Paul's Church-Pine Cowpygentwypetat Portsmouth societies of New England is meeting today with Newport Council, No. 6. It organized this morning after the arrival of the 9 o'clock train, in the Ball in the Bateau Bing. Vice President J. A. Bing. About 70 delegates are present, eating the various societies located about New England. The morning hours were occupied with business, organization reports, etc. Dinner was served and the session was resumed this afternoon, the election of officers for the year being in order.

JAMESTOWN.

[Regular correspondence of the News.]

Yesterday morning the bay on both sides of the island was covered with a thin film of ice caused more by the action of the water and the presence of wind rather than by deep frost. Large quantities of ice and some blocks drifted the bay all day, but does not interfere with the ferry service. The island harbor is becoming quite solid, and it will be hard work for the Saunderstown boat during the next few days to keep a channel open.

The work of breaking out the roads was started yesterday and today with the available help at command. Owing to the deep snow and the fact that the wind has blown it into drifts in many places on the roads clean down to the ground, the work is very slow. The snow is of a very light, feathery nature, and Bristol Rubber Factories Profit by the Snow Storm.

Golden Wedding Made Notable by Many Grandchildren—Deaths in Providence.

Though the recent storm with its drifts and traffic blockades may not have been to the liking of the average person, the managements of the two rubber factories in Bristol are rejoicing over the weather conditions. One of the men in charge at the National India Rubber Company's factory says the storm established by far the best conditions for the rubber business for two winters, and the drifts and snow blockades establish conditions which set the rubber machinery humming. There are disadvantages, it is learned, though only temporary, the difficulty in the employes in reaching the factories because of the blockades produced by the snow and the wind. The fact that there were 200 hands out of work Saturday at the factory of the National India Rubber Company, it was declared, will result in the daily output on shoes being curtailed for a few days, until the lost ground is regained with all the hands at work. A portion of the schedule on shoe making was dropped, as there were not enough hands to dispose of the full schedule. At the factory of the Consumers' Rubber Company all hands were at work.

At the St. Louis de Gonzague Church, Woonsocket, last week, in the church choir, stood 35 grandchildren of Mr. and Mrs. Antonio Girard, chanting a high mass of thanksgiving, in honor of the fiftieth anniversary of the marriage of their grandparents. The director, Miss Eva Girard, was another grandchild, while a nine-piece orchestra, composed of as many more grandchildren, played selections during the mass. The number of great-grandchildren was not recorded. They have big families up Woonsocket way, but most of them fail to the rear when the Girards appear. On this occasion all of the children, grandchildren and great-grandchildren who were able went to the church. They made a regular holiday congregation in themselves. Heading the procession were Mr. and Mrs. Girard, who are still spry and able to attend to their duties. Mr. Girard is 75, but doesn't act it. He is hale and hearty and seldom misses his daily walk. Mrs. Girard is 67. Her health is not so good, though she manages to go out frequently to see her grandchildren and great-grandchildren. Mr. and Mrs. Girard were both born in Canada, came to the States in their youth and met each other in Nashua, N. H. They were married in that city 50 years ago and came to Woonsocket 27 years ago. Before coming to Rhode Island they lived in various Massachusetts and Vermont cities. Thirteen children were born to the couple, 12 of whom are living. The celebration of the golden anniversary of the marriage of Mr. and Mrs. Girard began with the chanting of the high mass of thanksgiving at the church. The mass over, the whole family went to the home of the old folks and made merry for the rest of the day. Mr. and Mrs. Girard received many presents and were also showered with congratulations and best wishes for more years of life together.

Captain William H. Rowe, who retired from the Providence police department on a pension a little more than three years ago, died suddenly at his home in that city Sunday night, having celebrated his fifty-eighth birthday anniversary last Wednesday. For some months he had not been in good health. Captain Rowe was born in Pawtucket in 1852, went to Providence when young, and had lived there since. He was appointed a patrolman in the police department July 25, 1879, October 25, 1888, was made a sergeant; in February, 1902, was made a lieutenant, and in March of the same year was again promoted, this time to a captaincy. July 7, 1906, he was retired on a pension. At that time he was in command of the Sixth precinct. Captain Rowe is survived by his wife, and two sons, Nelson L. and Reuben H. Rowe. The former is in business, and the latter is a patrolman.

William H. Hawkins, for many years secretary of the Roger Williams Savings Fund and Loan Association of Providence and a well known figure in the business section of that city, died Saturday afternoon after a short illness in his sixty-third year. Mr. Tawkins was a native Rhode Islander and had been connected with several prominent business houses. For a number of years he was employed at the Corliss Steam Engine Works as bookkeeper and later served in the same capacity for the Providence Lithograph Company. He left that position to become secretary of the Roger Williams Loan Association, a post which he filled until his death. He was well known among the business men of the city, the different positions which he had held having brought him in contact with various interests. Mr. Hawkins was a familiar figure in social circles, and was a member of St. John's Lodge, No. 1, Providence Royal Arch Chapter, St. John's Commandery and the Royal Arcanum.

The United States Senate has confirmed the appointment by President Taft of George H. Webb as enrolling supervisor for the state of Rhode Island. Mr. Webb's appointment by the President was made last summer and during recess was effective from that date. He resigned his position engaged in official duties pertaining to the federal census for several months. Mr. Webb was a state commissioner of industrial statistics and on duty in the census bureau. He was a United States census officer at Washington for four years in charge of the enumeration of 1900 and was chief special agent in charge of the national census in Rhode Island in 1900. In 1905 he was appointed by the Rhode Island state census and was special agent of the bureau of manufactures. United States census in this state.

The United States Senate has confirmed the President's nominations of Charles A. Wilson to be United States district attorney and of Dutee W. Harris, Jr., to be United States marshal for the District of Rhode Island. Mr. Wilson's appointment is for a fourth term and Colonel Harris's for a second term as district attorney and for Dutee W. Wilson expires Friday of next week and the marshal's about a month later. The officials, on the expiration of their terms, will appear before the United States court and renew their oaths of allegiance.

Patrick Mullens was held up at the muzzle of a revolver Sunday evening on Hartford avenue, Olneyville, and under threat of death was compelled to allow himself to be searched. Because the robber's false moves he was not injured, and the bandit made his escape in the direction of Johnston. The robber secured 50 cents. Gilbert Beard, the veteran of the Civil War who was shot January 8, died Saturday, and in connection with that crime the police are now searching for a murderer, instead of a highway robber. Mann was wounded twice, one of the bullets penetrating his left lung. Pneumonia set in and death was the result of the combination.

Lieutenant Governor Zenas W. Bliss became acting governor of Rhode Island today, when Governor Pothier left the state to attend the conference of governors at Washington. During the four days when Governor Pothier will be absent Mr. Bliss will be chief executive with the powers of the governor, but will also exercise his own judgment as to whether the matters presented to him are of sufficient importance to warrant the governor's return. It is understood that Acting Governor Bliss will not exercise the veto power except in case of emergency. Governor Pothier left for Washington this morning, accompanied only by Mrs. Pothier. He expects to return Friday.

Senator Aldrich, who has been confined to his home by a bad cold for several days, is reported by his doctors as much better. Announcement is made that the Senator will be out in a day or two. Mr. Aldrich has not attended the sessions of the Senate since Monday.

The Queen Anne cottage at Bernardston, Warren, in which Hezekiah Butterworth, the noted lecturer and author, spent his declining years and in which he died about four years ago, was totally destroyed by the Sunday night.

Its Charms Cried, Give Us Newbro's Herpicide.

This word of late has been in everyone's mouth, and in my endeavoring what the word signifies, though no one has yet been found who will deny that NEWBRO'S HERPICIDE does its work. Well, for the information of the crowds of people who like to know all about a good thing, we would say that HERPICIDE means a destroyer or Killer of "Herpes." Now "Herpes" is the Scientific name of a disease caused by various vegetable parasites. A similar disease causes dandruff, itching scalp, and falling hair; this is the microbe that NEWBRO'S HERPICIDE promptly destroys; after which the hair grows. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

PAULHAN TO TRY FOR LONG FLIGHT.

dozen or more aspiring Pacific coast inventors have been tuning up their experimental flying machines for a week, and some were ready to be tried today. These include every variety of fantastic contrivance, from Professor J. S. Zerbez's 1,000-pound flower-pot stand, which made one ill-starred appearance on the field last week, to helicopters, which are supposed to rise by means of ventilating fans in the roof and then glide slantingly back to earth again. There is not one which will not fly, according to the inventors. These optimistic people, however, freely admit that none of the machines has ever flown but then there are principles back of them, excellent principles, they admit. "If I only had an engine," said one, "I'd make the Wrights kick themselves because they did not think of the idea first."

Paulhan, having clinched his hold on the hearts of the hero-worshipers in the grand stand, has taken steps to enslave these would-be rivals, also, by providing an engine with which it is hoped to start the envy of the Wrights. He has one or two extra rotaries which have proven remarkably proficient in his own machines, and the hopeful inventors in the California tent assert that he has offered his motors for use on the most promising of the prospective flyers. The question is, "How will it be determined which is the most promising?" Every inventor votes for his own machine and ridicules the rest.

Clifford Harmon announced today that he had concluded negotiations through Paulhan for a Farman biplane. When it is delivered the New Yorker will be the possessor of two aeroplanes. He said today that he will use the Farman for heavy duty—long flights, high flights and the like—and lighter Curtiss machines for speed jaunts. The new deal has given Harmon two instructors in aviation—Curtiss and Paulhan. The Frenchman took his new pupil on a flight for the first time yesterday, and, according to Harmon, has promised to coach him thoroughly in the dangerous calling of aviator before he leaves America.

RACE TRACK PROPOSED.

Plan in Connection With the Newport County Fair May Involve a Re-Organization.

It is reported that there is a plan on foot for the purchase of land and the construction of a race track in connection with the Newport County Fair. The scheme appears to be to purchase some amount of $50 or $100 shares of the Newport Agricultural Society. The fund thus raised would not be a large one for the establishment of a race track, and also as a reorganization as a result of the present plans, as many would undoubtedly not stand for the assessments. It also appears that all members have not received the circulars setting out and this is alleged to be further evidence that a race track is not the primary object of the meeting to be held at an early date.

FUNERAL OF MR. TWOMBLY.

Services at St. Thomas Church, New York, Attended by Many Friends of Former Banker.

Notwithstanding the storm Saturday morning funeral services for Mr. Hamilton McKown Twombly in St. Thomas Church, New York, filled the edifice with the relatives and friends of the banker. Bishop David H. Greer officiated, assisted by the rector of St. Thomas, Rev. Dr. Ernest M. Stires, and Rev. J. K. Blanchard, rector of Grace Church, Madison, N. J., where Mr. Twombly and his family attended during the summer months. The chancel was a mass of flowers. The musical part of the service was sung by a choir of 40 under the direction of Mr. Will C. MacFarlane, the organist and choirmaster.

Those of the immediate family, relatives and friends present included Mrs. Twombly and her two daughters, Miss Ruth V. Twombly and Mrs. William A. M. Burden; Mr. and Mrs. Arthur P. Twombly, Mr. and Mrs. William Jones, Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt, Mr. Elliott F. Shepard, Mr. and Mrs. William K. Vanderbilt, Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Sloane, Mrs. Harry Payne Whitney, Mr. and Mrs. William Kay Schieffelin, Dr. and Mrs. William Seward Webb, J. Watson Webb, W. A. Kissam, Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Vanderbilt, I. Townsend Burden, George S. Bowdoin, William C. Brown, Ogden Mills, Thomas F. Ryan, Cornelius N. Bliss, Levi P. Morton, Charles Lanier, Edmund L. Baylies, Horace C. DuVal and Edward V. Rossiter.

The pallbearers were J. Pierpont Morgan, Richard B. Williams, Frederick W. Whitridge, Thomas L. Manson, Edward Burnett, George F. Baker, William H. Newman, F. L. Stetson and George L. Rives. Interment was in Woodlawn, a special train carrying the family and relatives to the cemetery.

A SUBSCRIPTION DANCE.

A successful subscription dance was given Saturday evening at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Lorillard Spencer, Jr., on Rhode Island avenue, among those present being Lieutenant Commander and Mrs. W. W. Phelps, from the Training Station, Lieutenant and Mrs. H. G. Castleman and Lieutenant and Mrs. Charles Belknap of the Torpedo Station. Major and Mrs. John B. Russell from the Naval War College, Lieutenant and Mrs. Frank H. Phipps from Fort Adams, Mr. and Mrs. Reginald Norman, Mr. and Mrs. Gunford Norman, Paymaster and Mrs. William M. Hughes, Miss and Mrs. Newton Adams, Miss Julia Sands, Miss Marianna Fellam, Miss Dorothea Watts, Miss Buffum, Miss Fe Fe Prime, Miss Rae, Grosvenor, Miss Alice Lathe, Miss Julia Rodgers and Miss Zoe Priddy. The cotillion was led by Mr. William R. Coates, of St. George's School, dancing with Mrs. Spencer. The favors were given by Mr. William R. Hunter, Miss Julia Little, Mrs. Reginald Norman, Miss Anna Hunter and Messrs. Wilson R. Cowles, H. Parker and H. N. Arrowsmith of St. George's School. Music was furnished by McCroskey's orchestra.

DEATH OF WILLIAM T. YOUNG.

Mr. William T. Young, who had been ill for a long time, suffering from Bright's disease, died at the Newport Hospital Sunday morning. He was stricken with the attack at the residence of Mr. George Henry Warren, and had it not been for the watchfulness of the men with him he would have fallen from the roof. He was removed to the Newport Hospital where he remained without recovering consciousness until the end.

Mr. Young was foreman for Peckham Bros. & Co. many years and was one of those men who know their business and take pride in every way when on a job. He was an exceptionally fine and conscientious workman and a respectable man socially. Besides his widow, who was formerly Mrs. Arthur A. Harrison of Preston, he leaves a father, brother and sister residing in this city.

NEITHER PARTY IN DOMINANT PLACE

on either side using thousands of motor cars and carriages to convey party voters to the station gave promise of a record poll at today's election. In doubtful districts the party organizers were reinforced by an army of canvassers, and few voters escaped. In all 194 seats were contested for today, of these 91 being London constituencies and 73 provincial boroughs. Last year the Unionists held 76 of the 104, the Liberals 52 and the Laborites 16. The proportion for London alone was Unionists 47, Liberals 42 and Laborites 2.

The city of London itself is considered safe for the Unionists, and A. J. Balfour and Sir E. G. Banbury will doubtless receive majorities even larger than they had at the last election. There are a number of prominent members of the last house, however, whose seats are in danger. John Burns, president of the local government board, is having a hard fight against A. Shirley Benn, the Unionist candidate for Battersea and Clapham, Battersea division. In 1908 Burns had a majority of 1,600, but that was abnormal, his majority at the previous election having been only 254. T. J. McNamara, Liberal candidate for Camberwell, North division; A. Bonar Law, Unionist for Camberwell, Lalwich division, and W. H. Long, Unionist for the Strand, are said to be secure. The Liberals will doubtless lose Greenwich and other London districts.

Among the provincial seats contested today are Blackburn, held at present by Philip Snowden, Laborite, one of the leaders of the Labor party; Bristol, where A. Birrell, Labor, and C. Bellairse hold seats, and a district of which both sides profess confidence in making a clean sweep; Hull, Leeds, Newcastle-on-Tyne, Sheffield, York and Portsmouth, where the Unionists are depending on Admiral Lord C. Beresford, their candidate, and their denunciation of the Liberal naval policy to reverse the big Liberal majority returned at the last election. The candidacy of the Socialist nominee will assist them. Two Welsh and four Scottish boroughs, all heretofore Liberal strongholds, also polled today.

The Stock Exchange is inclined to be disappointed that the Unionist gains of Saturday were not greater, and the dealings this morning caused the loss of a number of advances registered last week in anticipation of a Tory victory. Consols fell 5-16.

Saturday night the Unionists held 43 seats, including those which were uncontested, to 27 for the Liberals, 6 for the Laborites and 5 for the Nationalists. This was a gain of 18 members of Parliament for the Unionists, 3 for the Liberals and 1 for the Labor party. There was no change in 69 of the constituencies.

Thus the first engagement for tariff reform, a great navy and the supremacy of the Lords as against free trade, reform of the House of Lords and home rule ended with neither party in a commanding position. The results of the polling Saturday tended to confirm the forecast that the Liberals will retain control of the government though with a greatly reduced majority.

W. Waldorf Astor and Sir H. Mortimer Durand, former ambassador to the United States, who contested the two Plymouth seats as Unionists, were defeated, but cut down that city's Liberal majority from 2,567 in 1906 to 946.

Davidson Dalziel, a promoter and at one time conspicuous in Wall Street, running on the Unionist ticket, turned out J. B. Seaverns, a Liberal and former American, from his seat for the Brixton division of Lambeth.

Rt. Hon. G. Wyndham, who will be governor general of Canada if the Unionists take on the government, carried his seat by a slightly increased majority. The Liberals took away 1,000 votes from Sir Gilbert Parker in the Gravesend district, but he retains his seat as a Unionist.

PROBATION OFFICER'S WORK.

Annual Report of Mr. Topham, for Newport County, to the Head of the Department.

The following is the annual report of Theophilus Topham, probation officer for Newport, to Walter R. Wightman, state probation officer:

Dear Sir: During the year 1909, in Newport county, 108 persons were placed on probation, as follows: Juveniles, 35; men, 53; women, 20.

The disposition of cases was as follows: Cases discontinued, 17; cases pending, 15; surrendered for sentence, 17.

Two men and nine women were sent out of the state.

One girl was placed at the Sophia Little Home; for this she was very grateful.

One hundred and sixty-one dollars were collected in small instalments for the payment of costs of court.

During the year 5746 were collected from non-support probationers, for the benefit of their families. There are others on probation for non-support who are living with and supporting their families according to their means.

Of the old cases, 59 are still pending, 38 have been discontinued and 10 have been surrendered for sentence. January 1, 1910, there were 72 men, 17 women and 45 juveniles on probation; total, 134.

FIRST SUBSCRIPTION DINNER.

The first in a series of subscription dinners was given at the Bailey Wednesday, the committee having the matter in charge consisting of Rodman Norman, Wilmot R. Hunter, Dr. Henry A. Kisch and Frederick H. Prince. The table was prettily decorated, as was the dining room. The guests included Mayor Daniel B. Gray, Colonel W. H. Cocke, U. S. A., Rear Admiral Rodgers, U. S. N., Commander Mark L. Bristol, U. S. N., lieutenant Commander W. W. Phelps, U. S. N., Lieutenant P. H. Phipps, Jr., U. S. A., Lieutenant H. G. Castleman, U. S. N., W. H. Powell and Major John H. Russell of the marine corps.

RAW ECZEMA ON HANDS

"I had eczema on my hands for ten years. I had tried good doctors but none of them did any good. I then used one box of Cuticura Ointment and three bottles of Cuticura Resolvent and was completely cured. My hands were raw all over, inside and out, and the eczema was spreading all over my body and limbs. Before I had used one bottle, together with the Cuticura Ointment, my sores were nearly healed over, and by the time I had used the third bottle, I was entirely well. To any one who has any skin or blood disease I would honestly advise them to feel with nothing else, but to get Cuticura and get well. My hands have never given me the least bit of trouble up to now. "My daughter's hands this summer became perfectly raw with eczema. She could get nothing that would do them any good until she tried Cuticura. She used Cuticura Resolvent and Cuticura Ointment and in two weeks they were entirely cured. I have used Cuticura for other members of my family and it always proved successful. Mrs. M. E. Falin, Speers Ferry, Va., Oct. 19, 1909."

Main Roads Opened by Shovellers—Strenuous Trips of Milkmen to the City.

[Regular correspondence of the News.]

A large gang of men was ordered out to open the roads late Saturday afternoon, but the wind was drifting the snow continually and the attempt was abandoned as useless at that time. A large number shovelled snow all day Sunday and the main roads were cleared. The cross roads will doubtless be opened to travel by night. In Brenton's lane the snow was level from wall to wall almost its entire length. Mitchell's lane, Wyatt road, Berkeley avenue and Turner road are to be cleared today. The highest drifts were five feet.

One or two of the milkmen made a start Saturday morning, but soon returned home. It took between two and a half and three hours to reach Newport Sunday morning, and this was accomplished only after a strenuous trip over walls and across meadows. The milkmen on Wapping road were obliged to leave the highway, taking down the wall at the northern end of Charles Peckham's farm, and not again taking the road until they reached the estate of Mrs. T. J. Emery on Honeyman hill, a distance of more than four miles across lots.

Rev. Father Huntington of Holy Cross College, who was to have spoken at the Berkeley Memorial Chapel Sunday morning and at the parish house in the evening, was unable to reach either place on account of the conditions of the roads. Father Huntington is guest of Rev. John B. Dimon at St. George's School. There was no service at the chapel Sunday morning, only three persons being present—Rev. Latta Griswold, Mr. Charles Sisson, the janitor, and a student from St. George's.

Mr. John Henry Manchester has been more comfortable the past few days.

Miss Louise M. Hart has been visiting her grandmother, Mrs. Lydia Hart, in Newport, the past two weeks.

The rural mail carriers were unable to cover their routes Saturday, as the roads were filled with snow.

MRS. FISH BECOMES A SUFFRAGIST.

Mrs. Stuyvesant Fish is the latest deserter from the ranks of the anti-suffragists. She joined the National League for the Civic Education of Women last year, and declared herself to be utterly opposed to votes for women. At the recent lecture given by Mrs. Ida Husted Harper, at the Colony Club, under the auspices of the Political Equality Association, of which Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont is president, her convictions were shaken, and at the lecture of the Equal Franchise Society, at the Garden Theatre, Thursday, they appear to have been completely uprooted, for she told Mrs. Belmont that she was now for woman suffrage and always would be.

Mrs. Belmont was entertained at luncheon at the Waldorf-Astoria by Miss Jeanie Pomeroy, president of the College Women's Club. Mrs. Belmont made an impromptu speech, and there were also several "suff" speeches.

NEW YORK SOCIAL ENTERTAINMENTS.

Lispenard Stewart will give Tuesday evening a dinner dance at Sherry's for his niece, Miss Evelyn Witherbee who made her debut a year ago. More than 100 invitations have been issued for the dinner, with as many more guests have been asked for the dance afterward.

On the same evening Mrs. George J. Gould is to give a dance for her eldest daughter, Miss Marjorie Gould, which will serve as a housewarming for her entirely reconstructed home on Fifth avenue, which has only recently been completed. Phoenix Ingraham will lead the cotillion with Miss Gould.

Thursday evening Mr. David H. King will give a theatre party at the Knickerbocker, followed by a supper and dance at Sherry's Friday night, for his daughter, Miss Jeanie King, for which he has issued more than 200 invitations.

DIPHTHERIA ON BOARD THE LOUISIANA.

Diphtheria has developed among the enlisted men on battleship Louisiana at the Norfolk yard and last reports give the number of cases and suspected cases as between 15 and 20. The men affected were transferred promptly to the Norfolk Hospital. So far there has been no deaths. The Navy Department is confident that the worst of the epidemic is over and that the competent work of the navy surgeons will check any further spread.

There have been several outbreaks of diphtheria in the navy in the past two years, generally following shore leave to the enlisted men. July 3, 1908, 21 cases were reported at the Boston navy yard, necessitating relief work by extra doctors and nurses. Later in the same month nine cases developed on battleship Nebraska, which stopped at Honolulu with vessels of the fleet en route around the world.

BACK TO NORMAL CONDITIONS.

Steam and Trolley Cars Running and Mails Received.

Island Roads Still Blocked With Snow—Good Work of the Big Rotary.

'Twas but for a day. The enduring which rested on Newport when The News went to press Saturday was partially lifted during the evening and Sunday morning things came back to normal conditions. It was not until today, however, that all the mails finally arrived, as some had wandered much after long delay. The roads on the island are still in bad condition for ordinary traffic.

While during Saturday the only outlet from the city was via the Providence line cars, which ran occasionally and connected with the trolleys to Providence, and steamer General, which made her trips but seemed to have difficulty in connecting with anywhere, there came a break in the clouds early in the evening, the trolley line opening to Fall River. That there were connections to be made via Bristol, both Saturday and afternoon, was discovered by but few, or there would have been a general rush in that direction, even though it required roundabout routes.

Some of the milkmen came in Saturday afternoon for the first time since the storm, many of them not even having made a start to come to town Saturday. Those who could reach the car lines were favored, but in the Wapping Road district there was no use in trying to break through. A good sample of what the milkmen had to contend with is to be seen on Gibbant lane, which has a car line at either end and yet the milkmen could not get out. The road is completely choked from wall to wall, and where the wall is considerably raised above the road on banks the fill is the same.

A snowplow, which would not do what was expected of it and two engines off the track out by Bristol Ferry, quite effectually blocked the steam road until the early morning hours of Sunday. On the other hand, the trolley lines were able to do business shortly after the snow stopped drifting. It took the big rotary of the Newport & Fall River road just two hours and a quarter to open the road from here to Stone Bridge when things became settled. Behind it was the snow plow, pushed by the powerful express car. The plow had the lookers out, and this trimmed down the threatening walls of snow and left a clear track the whole distance, while the way was also cleared practically down to the frozen earth. It was one of the cleanest pieces of track opening seen, and the Fall River crews when they brought their cars over the line Sunday were surprised at the excellence of the trackway.

When the rotary reached Stone Bridge there was orders to continue on and as Fall River she was ordered to clear the rails on the Taunton line through Swansea. The mammoth plow-engine made her way through the Fall River streets for the first time, and in Bristol to look the windrowing way to the Shaden Ferry bridge. Here came relief for the dog plow, which does not really plow, but with swiftly revolving knives cuts into the snowdrifts, takes the loosened snow and hurls it out through a funnel in the top of the car to a distance from the track. The big machine could not go on the bridge, the track layout being so compressed that it could not swing clear of the abutments. The plow was forced to return to Newport, leaving the expensive method of snowplowing out to progress on the other side of the Taunton river.

The big rotary received another call for duty this morning and started at 8 o'clock for Fall River and Swansea, the snow in the latter place demanding her presence, though a roundabout route must be taken.

In comparison with previous big snowstorms, it may be said that in some ways this was worse; the wind pack was earlier, though there were not such long drifts of deep snow as have been seen. The wind pack was compact all along the line and there were no really bare places to be found, though the state roads were frequently so bare that the farmers will thank the company for throwing snow on them, that sleighs may be used. Some of the worst places encountered by the plows were at State hill, in front of the Friends cemetery, on top of Quaker hill and at the foot of Park avenue.

When the wind changed Saturday afternoon from the northeast to the northwest there was a material shifting in the drifts. Many of the large ones of the first part of the storm had their tops cut off, and places which had given no trouble before were filled full.

Sunday road gangs were out, in some places shovelling and in others breaking, but there will be plenty to do for days to come unless nature renders assistance. One local breaking-out crew was a yoke of oxen with a load of horses attached to a lumber sleigh and manned by a crew of shovelers. Where it was not too deep this made an effectual clearing by just driving over the road.

The breaking away of the storm Saturday afternoon was a real breeze. The wind record the weather bureau seemed at times like a blizzard, and it soon became evident that so far as that particular storm was concerned it was all over, but the shouting of course those who were doing snow shoveling knew it was not all over and it will not be all over for some time, for the snow shovels are still busy.

Saturday was a day of shoveling and it is a question if the record for clearing paths and general disturbance of the location of the snow as left by the wind was not broken; at least it seemed that there was a more combined and determined attack on the snow than on any previous occasion. The fact that it was Saturday and that folks must dig if they were to

PORTSMOUTH.

Funeral of William L. Sisson During the Storm—Breaking Out the Highways.

[Regular correspondence of The News.]

The funeral of William L. Sisson was held Friday at the Christian Church, prayer having been offered by Rev. David C. Lowden, the pastor, at the home of the deceased on Ferry Neck. The storm prevented many from attending and before the services at the church was over it had increased to great violence, and had the entire company not been supplied with close carriages the hearse could not have reached the church would have been impressive of considerable suffering.

The quartet and organist of the United Congregational Church, Newport, gave three selections—"Jesus, Lover of My Soul"; "Asleep in Jesus," and Tennyson's "Crossing the Bar." There were numerous beautiful floral offerings among them a pillow with "Husband," a crescent with "Father," and a smaller piece from the grandchildren with "Grandpa" in purple letters. The burial was in the family lot in Union Cemetery, the bearers being Henry C. Osborn of Tiverton, Dr. Minor A. Steele, Captain Oliver G. Hicks, George R. Hicks, Benjamin Tallman and Oscar C. Manchester.

Mr. Sisson had five sisters, the one not already named being Mrs. Edward Mason Gloucester of Shoreham by Bay, N. Y., who was present at the funeral. Other persons present were Frederick B. Coggeshall, William Hamblin and Edward A. Brown of Newport, Abram Brown of Middletown, Mr. and Mrs. Alonzo Hart of Tiverton and Senator Anthony and Representative Sherman, who came from the General Assembly in Providence to be present.

Fair numbers were in attendance at all the churches Sunday, considering the walking, which was largely on the trolley track, few of the roads having been cleared in the morning. The road masters called out the shovelers Saturday morning and began the work, but it drifted in again as fast as it could be cleared, and after a faithful trial the job was given up for Saturday and began again Sunday morning. A large force, all that could be obtained, was used and much progress made, but many of the roads are so well filled that it may be two or three days more before the work is completed.

Few cars passed through the town Saturday, except the snow plows and baggage cars. In the evening the plows returned to Newport and Sunday morning the cars resumed running on their usual time.

Joseph Borden of Portsmouth, familiarly called "Dode," the champion pool player of this town and Tiverton, played a match game at Tiverton. Mr. Borden, as usual, was the winner, having 100 to his credit against 75 for Mr. Brown.

Miss Estella Brophy, sister of Miss Edna Brophy, who is ill at the house of Mr. Albert Hambly in Tiverton, in which town she was teaching, was taken sick some weeks ago, is now able to sit up a few hours each day.

Mr. and Mrs. Burnice Manchester are with the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar C. Manchester.

Mrs. William H. Butler has been at Mrs. Luther P. Chase's for a few days.

The local telephone office in Tiverton, which for a long time has had six connecting lines with Fall River, now has ten.

Mr. A. M. Ruggles of Achusnet, Mass., has been guest for a fortnight of his son, Mr. Edward G. Ruggles of "Lehigh," and family.

Mrs. George W. Sherman is spending a few days at Mrs. William L. Sisson's.

Mr. Arthur Albro, who has been quite ill, is better and was able to sit up last week for the first time. His father Mr. Charles Albro who broke his ankle a few days ago, is allowed to sit up. Mrs. Arthur Albro is in Fall River, visiting at her former home and is sick, and little Vera Albro is with her father at Mr. Charles Albro's, so that the house is like a hospital.

A family of children by the name of Munro has diphtheria in a high form.

Mrs. Charles Gifford has been guest of her sister, Mrs. Frank Peckham of Middletown.

Mumps are prevailing quite extensively throughout the town, grown people as well as children suffering.

Miss Anna Hathaway has been guest of Mrs. William Amy.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward H. Caswell and daughter have returned home after a week's visit to the latter's sister Mrs. Peabody, and her brother, Mr. Benjamin Wyatt.

Mrs. Elbert A. Sisson has been spending some days with her sister Mrs. H. Frank Anthony, and family.

MISSING SINCE NOVEMBER.

Arizona Party to Try to Find Lord Beauclerk and Arlington Pike.

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Jan. 17.—In a desperate effort to find Lord Osborn Beauclerk of Sussex, England, and W. Arlington Pike of British Columbia, whose whereabouts have been a mystery since early in November, a typical care-free young plainsman of Arizona, Albert Goodall, accompanied by a party of five, will leave here Thursday morning. They will sail round the lower California peninsula.

November 15 Lord Beauclerk and Pike left Yuma in a small boat for a hunting voyage down the Colorado river, intending to continue to La Paz, where they would take a coast steamer. Since then not even the British consul at La Paz has had word of them.
